About the Conference

The National Youth Conference on 'Revolutionizing Innovation for a Sustainable Economy (NYC-RISE 2026)' is being organized as a national-level knowledge and dialogue platform to strengthen academic-industry engagement and foster a student-centric research and innovation culture. The conference brings together industry experts, entrepreneurs, policymakers, academicians, researchers and youth (students) to deliberate on the transformative role of artificial intelligence, digital technologies and innovation in addressing sustainability imperatives and emerging socio-economic challenges.

NYC-RISE 2026 aims to empower youth through informed dialogue, interdisciplinary research and experiential learning by integrating technological, economic, social, cultural and policy perspectives. The conference seeks to bridge the gap between theory and practice by encouraging youth-led research, academic inquiry and meaningful industry interaction. Through research presentations, expert-led discussions and interactive forums, the conference aspires to stimulate the next generation of leaders, innovators and policymakers to drive sustainable transformation, inclusivity and cross-sector collaboration in a rapidly evolving global economy.

Conference Objectives

- To empower youth through AI-enabled and sustainability-driven innovation.
- To strengthen academia-industry collaboration for inclusive and sustainable development.
- To encourage youth-led research, critical enquiry and solution-oriented thinking.
- To promote interdisciplinary research and experiential learning on emerging socio-economic challenges.
- To create a national forum for dialogue on ethical AI, green finance, ESG and sustainable development.

Conference Events

- Academic Discourse and Research Presentations
- Industry Roundtable and Expert Panel Discussions
- Youth-led Dialogue for Entrepreneurial Initiatives
